March.

Charter the day of unfolding grace.

When truth with the progress of art, keep pace. When the scepter of virtue shall rule social life. And religion with practical works shall be rife. When the soul unto wisdom shall fully expand. And each heart-beat to liberty's holy demand. When the glory of God shall the feelings inspire.

And right-hold dominion o'er human desire.

O Lord we will praise thee

In the march in the dance.

And joyfully we'll sing.

As forward we advance.

In the glorious work.

Thou hast given us to do,

Most earnestly we toil.

Ever faithful ever true.

My soul reaches forth for treasures of worth

My heart resteth not until earth and strife

I joy at the vanishing echoes of mirth which only are pleasures of transient life In the claims of truth all my hopes I place in thee

Where love perfect love rules the word and song

My works shall attest

That the power of grace

Has wrought in my heart dominion over wrong

where

Eternal life will give the grace of the Holy Spirit recollection Which the wild waves leave on the shore and you can hold the threads of a sweet affection

They are yours forever and ever

Wake the scenes of joy eternal Let the mists now roll away

That obscure the land of promise And the lights along the way

For the pilgrims goal immortal Lies beyond a trackless sea On whose waters we are sailing

 Where the halcyon before my soul / set a tale

I have secured treasures pure of far greater worth than earth can give. My days here in time are finished and fast so I must leave all earthly scenes farewell, dearest friends we soon shall meet on that bright and happy shore where

...parting is no more

...and dwell in love Joy and peace.
