"Lindbergh Flies Alone."

Alone?

Is he alone at whose right side rides Courage, with Skill within the cockpit and Faith upon the left? Does solitude surround the brave when Adventure leads the way and Ambition reads the dials? Is there no company with him for whom the air is cleft by Daring and the darkness is made light by Emprise?

True, the fragile bodies of his fellows do not weigh down his plane; true, the fretful minds of weaker men are lacking from his crowded cabin; but as his airship keeps her course he holds communion with those rarer spirits that inspire to intrepidity and by their sustaining potency give strength to arm, resource to mind, content to soul.

Alone? With what other companions would that man fly to whom the choice were given?

Reprinted from THE SUN of Saturday, May 21.

Various Horticultural Notes

Apple Spray Program

What is considered the best Winter spray and at what strength should it be applied? What is the best mixture for the calyx spray and should it be applied when the petals of the blossoms are falling or before then? Do trees require a third spraying? My trees last year dropped their fruit when about the size of walnuts, and each fruit had specks in them as if stung by some insect. These trees are in a lowland with clay subsoil. New York. J. W.

The standard Winter spray is lime sulphur, 11 gallons in water to make 100 gallons of mixture. It is almost the universal practice now to delay this dormant spray until the leaves of the blossom buds are out $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ in., and to add $2\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. of lead arsenate and three-fourths of a pint of nicotine sulphate for protection against chewing and sucking insects that can be hit at that time.

For the calyx spray the mixture is $2\frac{1}{2}$ gallons of lime sulphur, $2\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. of lead arsenate, 1 pint of nicotine sulphate, in water to make 100 gallons, applied when the last of the petals are falling.

A third and even fourth spray is often imperative. In rainy seasons a spray of lime sulphur, $2\frac{1}{2}$ gallons in 100 of spray solution should be put on before rainy spells, during the period between the delayed dormant and the calyx sprays as protection against scab. If curculio is severe a spray of arsenate of lead and lime is sometimes put on following the calyx spray by about ten days. And by all means a Summer spray of lime sulphur, $2\frac{1}{2}$ gallons of lime sulphur and $2\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. of lead arsenate in 100 gallons of solution should be applied about the first of July for apple maggot, codling moth, and scab. In many localities only three sprays are necessary: 1, Delayed dormant; 2, calyx; 3, first week in July.

The dropping of the fruit sounds like curculio attack, and the location of the orchard further substantiates the opinion. Some growers in the lower Hudson River Valley have combatted curculio successfully by delaying the calyx spray as long as possible before the calyx cups have closed and by adding 20 lbs. of hydrated lime to 100 gallons of spray mixture. H. B. T.

The Shiawassee Apple

I read Prof. Hedrick's article on page 172 about the Cortland apple. I have five trees; about 15 years ago I planted a small orchard, up in the mountains, about 2,200 ft. elevation. Among the different varieties selected was McIntosh, and I ordered 15 of them. They have been bearing for the past five years, about every other year a crop, due to frosts, etc. This last year I had a fine lot, and had some entered at the county fair, and an apple show at one of our department stores here. Both exhibits were judged by different men from State college, and did not pass judgment as McIntosh. Since then I have found that they are not a true McIntosh, but an offshoot from the Famous group that McIntosh was derived from. This apple has been pronounced by a hotel man, a cafeteria proprietress, as the best flavored fruit for apple sauce and pies, and by others that are apple eaters, and like an apple that is tart and juicy, as very fine for eating. After investigating the source and origin of this apple I can only find out from a few old apple men that it is called the Shiawassee. Can you give a better history of this apple and why it was never made a commercial success? This apple in our county ripens about October 1 to 15, and keeps well in ordinary temperatures, not one decaying until about the middle of January. I still have a few left and on account of the very mild weather the past three weeks they are beginning to get soft. H. C. H.

Shiawassee is a seedling grown by a man named Truesdell in Shiawassee County, Michigan, about 1850. The variety was at one time considerably grown in Michigan, and there are still many old trees of it in that State. It is of the Fameuse and McIntosh type, but is not so good a dessert apple as Fameuse, and falls far short of McIntosh to eat out of hand. The flesh is quite as tender as that of either McIntosh or Fameuse, and has the same aroma, but is too tart for most palates. It is, however, one of the very best culinary apples that I know, its sauce being particularly well flavored and pleasing in consistency.

Three faults debar it from being a good commercial apple in this State or probably in any other State: The trees do not come in bearing young; they are seldom sufficiently productive; and in most localities they are biennial bearers. On the other hand, they grow to large size, are very hardy, usually healthy, and are long lived. U. P. HEDRICK.

Alfalfa Seed from Alfalfa Growers

Northwestern Genuine Ontario Variegated,
Dry Land Grown Northwestern Grimm Canadian Grown

All our famous D. B. Brand, 99.50 pure or better and of high germination, absolutely hardy, the only kinds to sow in the Middle and New England States.

The varieties we used on our own farms to produce what has been called "The best 100 acres of Alfalfa, East of the Rocky Mountains."

Alfalfa Seed is comparatively cheap this year. Sow it freely in place of Red or Mammoth Clovers, which are unreasonably high, owing to actual scarcity.
